

The convergence rate is found by using polyfit(with $n = 1$) on our graph. We take the slope of this equation (which is the first element of the array polyfit outputs) and take the exponential of it (since we had a log plot) to get the following convergence rate:

The convergence rate is 1.06948157

Note – This convergence rate is automatically outputted when running the script given.